Anthony Mak Appointed Chief Executive Officer of Celsion China Ltd

COLUMBIA, Md.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 25, 2005--CELSION CORPORATION (AMEX:CLN) announced today that, effective January 1, 2005, Anthony Mak was appointed as Chief Executive Officer of Celsion China Ltd., a joint venture between Celsion Corporation and Hong Kong-based Pacific Life Science Holdings Ltd.

Mr. Mak has over 20 years of experience in the medical products and health care industries in China and Asia Pacific. Most recently, he served as CEO of Oculus Ltd., a Singapore-listed regional optical company. Prior to that Mr. Mak held increasingly senior positions within Allergan, ultimately becoming Vice President and Managing Director for East Asia and building Allergan into a leading eye-care company in the region. Mr. Mak also has held management positions with Johnson & Johnson, G.D. Searle and Upjohn.

Dr. Augustine Cheung, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Celsion Corporation, commented, "We are delighted that Anthony has joined the Celsion China team. We expect that his extensive experience with medical products in China and the Asia Pacific region will be most valuable in facilitating approval for Celsion's Prolieve™ product in the People's Republic of China and in preparing the way for Celsion to extend its product line in China."
